

OVERVIEW

Searsucker San Diego embodies the social dining experience by encouraging guests to come early and stay late. Inspired by the simplicity, relaxed and feel-good vibe of the searsucker fabric, founding Chef, Brian Malarkey, created a space that invites patrons to relax and enjoy, with menus are both serious and fun, with creative twists on New American Classics.

The airy design features an open kitchen, rustic dining room and a lively bar area. Patrons can watch the action, chat without boundaries and feel as if they're at a friend's dinner party rather than a restaurant. Because who doesn't love a good get-together with a cocktail or two?
